

LIKE SPORTS?

Michael Sam (pictured) does. And he made queer history by coming out before he was even drafted. Historically, all major sports have been notoriously homophobic. Although time will tell how his career ultimately unfolds, this pioneer deserves props for helping pave the way for queer athletes everywhere.

A small list of the many – and growing – out and proud athletic folks:

Jason Collins (basketball)

Billie Bean (baseball)

Billie Jean King (tennis)

Renee Richards (tennis)

Robbie Rogers (soccer)

Tom Daley (diver)

Your Name Here?

Thinking of History, did you know that the NHL actively supports queer athletes and fans across its entire league?

Check out the You Can Play project they launched at youcanplayproject.org, where they believe that “if you can play, you can play”.

Be OUT, Be PROUD, and... PLAY BALL!